

"What if my job as a coach isn't so much to force or coerce performance as it is to create situations where players develop confidence to set their talents free and pursue their potential to its full extent? What if my job as a coach is to prove to these kids how good they already are, how good they could possibly become and that they are truly capable of higher level performance?"

-Pete Carroll
Physical Education Major

